is the final report of the ENA Ex Post Facto investigation. Peggy Mahoney will be out of the office for the next 2 weeks. Kristina Mordaunt in ENA Risk will be contacting the main contacts for several of these proposals. These discussions will hopefully be followed up by bid data requests. I'll be out of the office tomorrow and on vacation through Friday, Oct. 12th. Thanks Shona Wilson Director, Global Risk Operations

X39123Q: What is the correct way to add a C# class member to an XML element, based on a condition (using XmlSerializer)? Is it as simple as doing this?

```
[XmlElement(IsRequired = false)]
```

```
public class MyClass {
```

```
[XmlElement(ElementName =
```

```
"Foo")] public List FooList { get;
```

```
set; } // etc } A: Not quite that

```
simple. You must put
```

```
XmlAttribute on one or
```

```
more elements in the class, and a
```

```
XmlAttribute on the
```

```
List. You also need to use
```

```
XmlAttribute.IsNullable
```

```
= false and XmlArrayAttribute
```

```
.Items.ElementName = "Foo" to
```

```
specify the member to use. Try
```

```
this: [XmlRoot(ElementName =
```

```
"MyClass")] public class MyClass
```

```
{ [XmlElement(ElementName =
"Foo")] public List FooList { get;
set; } // etc } A:
[XmlRoot(ElementName =
"MyClass")] public class MyClass
{ [XmlElement(ElementName =
"Foo", IsNullable = false)] public
List FooList { get;
```
